

A Son brings you

so much happiness

when he's a little boy

that you think life

can't get much better

Then before you know it,

he's a grown man.

And you realize

the happiness grew

right along with him